NO WOMEN STREET INSPECTORS

5t. Louis Will Not Imitate Chicago in the Appointment of a Woman-

Mayor Is Opposed to It. Mrs. Paul's appointment as a street inspector in Chicago has aroused the women of St. Louis to action. Since she first commenced her overseer duties the progress-ive females of the Mound City have been planning how to get their mayor to appoint one or more of their sex in a similar ca-Pacity, With this object in view five members

With this object in view five members of the Equal Suffrage Association, headed by Mrs. Victoria Conkling Whitney, the president, called upon Commissioner Milner. That gentleman first told his visitors that women would not be a success as street inspectors, that the work was too arduous, etc. His objections were laughed to scorn and finally Mr. Milner told them that with the consent of the mayor he would appoint four lady inspectors of street cleaning as an experiment. The suffragists were overjoyed and proposed accompanying Mr. Milner to his honor's office.

Accordingly the party went over and were introduced to Mayor Ziegenhein. Mrs. Whitney made known their mission. She spoke of the filthy, uncleanly condition of the streets and alleys and how they should be remedied. She said if the inspectors were not competent or did not discharge their duties as they should Mr. Milner should release, them and appoint women in their stead.

were not competent or do not distinate their duties as they should Mr. Milner should release them and appoint women in their stead.

When Mrs. Whitney had concluded the mayor began. He did not approve the idea of women doing manual labor outside of the home. He thought their place was at home looking after the meals of their husbands and seeing that their shirts were all washed, fronced and mended and that their slippers were nicely warmed on cold nights. A domestic woman was the shining light of the home and it was because there were so few domestic and home loving women nowadays that so many young men preferred the lives of bachelors. There were 16,000 men in St. Louis to-day, the mayor declared, who would be married to-morrow could they only find women who were not too independent to look after the welfare of husbands and home.

Thereupon the suffragists let escape a wee bit of temper and his honor was informed that some of the theories as to the duties of women were very much antiquated and would have been more popular during the medieval ages.

Referring to his interview with Mrs. Whitney Mayor Ziegenhein said: "I meant to be frank and serious when I said I would never be instrumental in degrading women to the level of street work. To me the proposition is preposterous. The idea of placing a woman over a gang of rough street workers from the slums. I don't mean to say there are not some good, respectable men werking on the streets when they can get nothing eise to do, and I honor them for it, but as a class they are not polished in manner. I reminded those ladies that I had a wife who made my home the most desirable place on earth for me. There is nothing that my wife cannot cook, there is no garment I wear that she can't make and has made for me, and when her work is done she can sit down to the plano, play the best music and sing me the sweetest songs I ever listened to. That is the kind of a home for a man to have and the kind every man can have if the woman will only take an interest in it. When she do

NEW COUNTERFEIT QUARTER. City Police Aiding Federal Anthorities in Finding a Gang of Clever

Counterfelters.

All the available secret service officers for the federal district embracing Chicago and vicinity are searching the city to locate the plant of bold counterfeiters who are flooding the country with bogus 25-cent pieces.

The plant is known to be in Chicago, and the principal members of the gang are supposed to be here. The federal authorities have asked the detective department to aid them in their search.

The counterfeit is one of the most deceptive ever put into circulation. It contains enough silver to give it a good appearance and the right ring. The only defect in it is that it is too light in weight. It bears the coinage date of 1892. It is estimated that no less than $5,000 worth of these coins have been put into circulation in Chicago alone. Street car companies have suffered greatly, as have also saloons. The department stores have also been victimized.

The police believe the gang, which has been operating during the summer in New York, has changed its scenes of operation to Chicago. The coins made their appearance for the first time during the early part of September. Women confederates are believed to be putting the money in circulation. flooding the country with bogus 25-cent

AWOKE AMID FLAMES.

elve-year-old May Marks, daughte of former City Councilman Lewis Marks. of Bridgeton, Pa., was a very studious child, always standing at the head of her class in the public school, and would never go to sleep until her lessons were learned.

She had formed the habit of studying after she got into bed, with a candle on the stand at the side of the bed. She did this Sunday evening and while studying fell asleep. In her slumbers the sleeve of her nightrobe came in contact with the candle's flame and she awoke with a start and found herself ablaze. Jumping from the bed she ran screaming down to the pump, the flames enveloping her as she ran.

Her father heard her cries and sprang from his bed in an adjoining room and ran to her assistance. He selzed her and by rolling her on the carpet succeeded in extinguishing the fire, but was himself badly burned in doing so.

A physician was hastily summoned, but his efforts to save May's life were in vain. She had inhaled the flames as she ran and soon after midnight she passed away, after the most intense suffering. of Bridgeton, Pa., was a very studiou

NO HOPE AT THE GRAVE.

Colonel Logan, an Infidel, Is Buried With a Comfortless Speech to Send Him Off.

At Nicholasville, Ky., the funeral services of Colonel John L. Logan, the noted infidel, were perhaps the most remarks infidel, were perhaps the most remarka-ble ever held in Kentucky. At his elegant home there was no word of prayer or heavenly comfort offered. His remains were taken to no church, but at the grave were assembled a large part of the inhab-itants of the town. When the coffin containing his remains was set down Mrs. Josephine K. Henry, the infidel, woman suffragist and candidate for president, delivered a discourse contain-ing no words of hope. It was an eloquent plea for rationalism.
